Sample Dialogue

Susan was disgusted with Jessica's behavior in school. "You're grounded for life, that's final, go to your room now." Just wait until your father hears about this. "I'm sure he will be thrilled."

"Mom, it's not what you think, I did not cheat on my test. "Please believe me, I'm innocent," Jessica responded.

"Let's see what your father Ethan has to say, he will be disappointed. The first semester was great, what happened?" Jessica.

"The exam fell from my desk, Mr. Matthews asked me to speak with him, and that's when I was accused of cheating. "It's assumptions, not facts Mom," Jessica said.

"Dad, you have to believe me, Mr. Matthews set me up. I did not cheat, don't put me on punishment. "How could he accuse me of cheating without solid proof?" I want a transfer, this school sucks," said Jessica.

"It's your dad's decision also I cannot exclude him," Susan responded while shrugging her shoulders.

"Well...., I say stick things out for the month, and if another incident occurs, we will transfer you," Ethan said.

“Will you miss your friends?” Once you decide to attend another school for the remainder of the year, I didn’t think it would be this easy Jessica,” said Susan.

“I will not miss that school, there are bad memories. Sadly, I have attended for three months only. “It’s a good thing to me,” said Jessica.
